WO NEW GEORGIA MEMBERS SPOKE r. Pence Again Electrifies the

House with His Eloquence. THER NEWS OF THE NATION'S CAPITAL

The House Coinage Committee on the Johnson Bill-More Georgians Reseive Good Appointments.

Washington, August 24 .- (Special.)-There was real hilarity in the senate chamber this afternoon for the first time in years and the dignified senators gave themselves up to merriment.

Senators Stewart and Peffer each had speech on the silver question ready to eliver. Mr. Stewart was recognized by the vice president, arranged his pile of books and his manuscript and had just have now reached the fork in the road," when Mr. Peffer awoke from his deep thought and claimed the floor on the ground of previous notice to speak. Neither senator would yield, each had his manuscript arranged neatly and they opened what might be termed a silver duet. The gray beard and the chestnut beard waved defiantly, and there was a vocal contest which convulsed the senators. Finally they were both stopped in their competition amid the halarious applause of their colleagues. The vice president was in a quandary as which one to recognize, but Mr. Stewart said that the Kansas senator might have the floor if he was discourteous enough to take it, confident that he would not do so, but Mr. Peffer had no scruples of that kind and went on with his speech, while Mr. Stewart wandered out of the chamber with a very injured look on his face.

Lafe Pence, the boy orator from Colorado, made a tremendous hit in the house. He scored Carlisle, Bynum and the other emocrats who have changed their posiion on the silver question, in a speech the like of which has not been heard in several sessions of congress. It was the boldest speech heard in years, and one of the rightest. It was well delivered and as energetic as only a western stump speaker can be. Mr. Pence has already won orawent far beyond his previous efforts, and finished the members cheered him lustily. It was the most brilliant perform-

Two Georgians Heard From

Two of Georgia's new members entered the arena of the silver debate today and reflected great credit upon themselves. Bolonel Ben Russell delivered a ringing five minutes speech this afternoon in advocacy of free coinage. He described the situation of the country and especially in the south at present and declared it was the duty of ess to act and to act quick. He did not believe in giving up to the money classes. Free coinage should be adopted in order that the country might be re-

At the evening session Judge Maddox had the floor for thirty minutes. He delivered one of the best speeches yet heard from a plendid impression, being liberally ap-

Favor the Johnson Bill. The house banking and currency committee took up the Johnson bill today. It provides that holders of bonds may deposit them with the treasury department and eceive treasury notes to the par value, he bonds to be redeemable at the will of the owner, but said bonds not to draw interest while on deposit. Though no action was taken, a majority of the committee favored the bill. The committee at its next meeting will probably report it favorably, but with an amendment provid-ing that gold may be deposited for similar ans in the government. After disposing of this the committee will get to work on a general revision of the banking and curoncy laws with a view of perfecting the currency system which will stand all tests and insure a sufficient and substantial currency in the country on all emergencies. Mr. Blount and the Senatorship. There being no further necessity for Minister Blount's presence in Washington until the president returns to the capital, he has taken advantage of the intervening me to visit his home in Georgia, in order to look after certain private matters said to require his immediate personal attention. He has concluded his official business with the state department for the present, and will not return to Washington until the president is prepared to consider the proposition of the provisional sovernment of Hawaii for the conclusion government of Hawaii for the con-of a treaty with the United States.

Mr. Blount left here this morning for his southern home.

Mrs. Blount, who went to Hawaii with him, also accompanied him on the trip to Georgia. Secretary Gresham paid them a visit at the Sherman last evening and took occasion to thank Mr. Blount for the manner in which he had performed his dif-ficult mission.

While it was impossible to get Mr. Blount to express an opinion on the sub-lect during his brief stay in this city, the impression is strong that he favors the es-tablishment of a strong protectorate over the Hawaiian islands in preference to their ions. It is also understood that he dvócates immediate action in the matter as necessary to circumvent the negotiations of the Japanese government, which seems to have taken a deep interest in the questions. While it is true that Minister Blount has not formally resigned, it is understood that since his arrival in Washington, he informed Secretary Gresham that he did not desire to return to Hawaii and he would relinquish the office at the president's convenience. ce. Some people say that the bee is buzzing loudly in Mr. mt's bonnet and that he has gone to orgia to see about it.

Georgians Will Do What They Can. Mr. Turner and the entire Georgia delegaon will do all in their power to secure mincial aid from the govern-ht for the sufferers at Bruns-ick. Should they not succeed in getting some of the money appropriated by a past congress for such emergency cases, a spe-cial bill will be introduced for the aid of the sufferers. Such appropriations have been fought on constitutional grounds, but something is quite likely to be done in the matter by the government. No stone will be left unturned by Mr. Turner and, of ourse, all the other Georgians will aid

South Carolinians Agree at Last. Hon. Fitzhugh Caldwell, of South Carolina, filed an application today to be made minister to Italy. He is the first applicant from that state who has the endorsement of every member of the legislature. Even Senators Butler and Irby stand jaw to jowl on it. Mr. Cleveland has promised an important foreign consulship to the state whenever both factions meet to recommend any one man. If he does not land there some other equally good place will be found for him, according to Mr. Quincy.

Talk of Adjournment. Since the committees have been an nounced there is again talk of an early adjournment of the extra session, but there is no indication that this expectation on part of a few men is warranted. The indications are still that this session will run right into the regular session, and that there will be no adjournment before next June, though there will be the usual two weeks' recess Christmas.

The statement of Mr. Cleveland in his message that he had intended to call congress into extra session in September to consider the tariff question is generally accepted as an announcement of his desire that after the financial question is settled he thinks congress should immediately pro ceed to the consideration of the tariff question, and not delay the matter of repealing the McKinley bill and giving the country a new law in accordance with the leclarations of the democratic platform. Speaker Crisp is in favor of a continued session. He believes that there should be no delay in revising the tariff and he thinks it to the best interest of the country and the party to continue and do the work that is before this congress without any unnec essary delay. As a rule the members would also prefer to remain here and do the work mapped out rather than have an adjournment from some time in September until the 1st of December, which would cause the or September. To go right on adjournmen could be had by the 1st of next July.

It is not probable that there will be any delay about the ways and means committee getting to work. Chairman Wilson is a business man and will rush the work of preparing a tariff bill. He will not con time in tedious hearing but will go right to work with the full committee the preparation of a bill. Mr. Wilson has been at work on a bill of his own all the spring and summer. This he will submit to the committee as a ground plan for a bill. It will be considered section by section, or schedule by schedule and the com-mittee will soon agree upon a complete bill to be reported to the house. Rivers and Harbors. Though there was no river and habor bill passed at the last session of the last congress there will be one passed by this. terested in this hill and already the members are beginning to lobby with the chair man and members of the committee in the interest of the rivers and harbors in their respective districts. Colonel Lester, of Savannah, being again on the committee the prospects are that the Georgia streams will fare well.

Judge Culberson's Horse Sense. All the silver men in the house have appealed to Judge Culberson, of Texas, to He had expected at first to do so but today he stated that he would not. He thinks there have been sufficient speeches. Nothing that could now be said change a vote in the house and he says he sees no use in consuming time to the exclusion of younger members who are anx-

Georgians and Georgia Matters. At the request of Speaker Crisp, Secretary Smith has appointed Mr. J. L. Anderson, of Hawkinsville, special land agent at salary of $1,200 a year, with allowances of $3 a day for expenses and mileage. Mr. Anderson left for Georgia tonight to spend a day at home before going to Oklahoma, where he has been assigned to duty for the present. He will be there during the open-ing of the Cherokee strip. After that his duties will be in Alabama, Mississippi and age of saver. Mr. Pener descanted the luxurious extravagance of New millionairea and age of siver. Mr. Pener descanted upon the luxurious extravagance of New York millionaires and upon Wall street bankers and brokers, who were, he said, the advisers of the president and the result of whose advice was the bill to repeal the Sherman act. Haif a dozen speculators, he said, ruled the country with Iron hands. It was time to dissolve partnership with Wall street. Since the dawn of history the mouey changers had been always against the people, but it had been reserved for the Christian divilization of the closing years of the nineteenth century to throw the garb of respectability about the business of the usurer. He declared himself in favor of "free and unlimited colnage of silver, 16 to 1; that a tothing." He add no compromise to offer and would accept none. He went on to argue that it was the government mintage that gave the legal tender quality to gold, as well as to silver, and he illustrated his argument by the exhibit of a gold engle and a bar of gold of exactly the same weight. The eagle was legal tender of small debts, but the bar was not; the eagle was worth $10, but the bar was worth only $8.80. "So far as I am concerned," he said, "the Sherman law shall never be repealed unless we have the law of our fathers restored to the statute book. The unconditional repeal of the Sherman law would mean a gold standard."

Mr. Pener then went on to criticise Mr. Yorchees for what he called his political

THERE ARE NO NEW CASES OF FEVER

And the People Take Hope-Surgeon Gui teras Prints a Card-The Day in Brunswick and the Situation Elsewhere.

Brunswick, Ga., August 24 .- (Special.)-Peter Harris, the second yellow fever vic tim, died last night at 12 o'clock and was buried at 6 o'clock this morning in a poplar coffin. Rev. Edward F. Cook, the pastor who officiated at Surgeon Branham's burial, conducted the burial services over the unfortunate man's body.

forty-eight hours and no suspicious ones are reported. At 1 o'clock today the board of health issued this bulletin: It is gratifying that the board of health is able to announce to the public that there are no new cases of fever of any kind. The case of Harris terminated fatally, and the other of Harris terminated ratinity and the other case, the Cox child, is reported doing well, and a spirit of confidence and cheerfulness prevails among our population. The situation is encouraging and reassuring to the public at large.

At 6 o'clock tonight Dr. H. Burford, president of the health board, and Dr. Robert Burford, health officer, announced that there were no new or suspicious cases

The Case of Foor Harris.

Harris, the victim, died unconscious. He was ill five days, and medical science was exhausted endeavoring to save him. Not until after several spells of black vomit passed was hope abandoned. When death occurred, suggestions of an autopsy were made to the physicians, but the idea was abandoned, by request of relatives. The young man was interred by the side of his father in Oak Grove cemetery. The leaves five brothers and one sister, Mrs. William . Ervine, of Macon. Dr. Gulteras Publishes a Card. Dr. Guiteras thinks he has been mis quoted and publishes the following card in The Times to set himself right:

I understand that some remarks made by me before the board of health have been mis-understood. I have to request the publication of the following statement: I have never said that yellow fever is epidemic in Bruns-wick. I knew that it is not epidemic within the limits of the United States. Every case of yellow fever occurring in this country is more or less directly traceable to importa-tion. Anticipating my thanks, I am very respectfully yours, JOHN GUITERAS, M. D.

In view of the action taken by cities in quarantining Brunswick, Surgeon Hutton issued an order today to the Brunswick and Western and the East Tennessee othcials notifying them that no passengers of baggage will be allowed to leave Bruns wick for any point south of Atlanta. This is intended to benefit the people themselves, for since all the towns south of Atlanta have instituted strict quarantine against Brunswick any one leaving for these points would suffer great hardships. All fire insurance agents in Brunswick have given no tice that they will waive the vacant clause in the case of fire on account of refugeeing Sticks to His Post of Duty. An injustice has been done Rev. Ed F Cook by The Macon Telegraph correspond ent at Fort Valley, who announces Rev. Cook's arrival there and efforts being made by the council to quarantine him. Rev. O F. Cook, of Darien, was probably the one the correspondent meant to refer to. Rev. Ed. F. Cook buried Surgeon Branham and young Harris. He ishere now ministering to the wants of the suffering. His cool ing hands and comforting words are reliev ing much of the distress among, not only his own, but other congregations. That he should have been reported out of the city is regretted by the people here who love him. No nobler work was ever done by human than he is doing in this, the hour of Brunswick's need.

A Hopeful View. Though a few more cases might be re-orted from this time, the slow development of the disease does not warrant the fear of Relief camps have been established by Sur

Brunswick's Appeal Will Be Acted Upon a

Washington, August 24.—Members of the Georgia delegation in congress this morning received a telegraphic appeal from a citizens committee of Brunswick, asking for mmedate aid in the way of provisions or money.

Congressman Turner in whose district Brunswick lies, had a long conference with Surgeon General Wyman after receiving the telegram. The object of the conference was to ascertain if any help for the unfortunate citzens could be extended by the marine hospital service. Surgeon General Wyman was very sympathetic and promised to do all in his power to alleviate the miserable condition of the poor people who are left in Brunswick. An effort will be made to furnish food and medicine out of the epidemic fund at the dis-posal of the bureau if it can be thus utilized. This course is being taken under consideration today, and it is hoped that a favorable de-cision will be reached.

Inspection at Cape Charles There is quite an extensive coastwise trade between Brunswick and the cities further north on the Atlantic coast, and Chesapeake bay and the marine hospital bureau is taking extra precaution to prevent a possible spread of yellow fever through merchant vessels ar-riving from Brunswick. Washington, Batt-more, Richmond and Norfolk are dependent upon the Cape Charles quarantine station in Chesapeake bay for protection against the ar-rival in their ports of vessels carrying conta-

A strict inspection has been maintained at the Cape Charles port of every vessel arriving, and instructions were forwarded to the quarantine officers today to take extra pre-cautions in the case of vessels from Brunswick or other southern ports. Surgeon Gen-eral Wyman has no fear, however, of any spread of the disease in northern ports, as it has not assumed an epidemic form in the Mayor Knight accompanied Surgeon Magruder to Waynesville, where the government has established a quarantine station. He returned last night. Lancaster, Pa., August 24.—The appraisement of the personal effects of the banking firm of E. K. Smith & Co., of Columbia, which failed recently, shows their affairs to be in a deplorable condition. The cash on hand with the securities will amount to less than $4,000. The deposits amount to $151,000, and the claims of preferred creditors, not depositors, to over $69,000; so that, unless the latter are set aside as fraudulent, the creditors will get next to nothing. The firm paid 5 per cent premium on time deposits and 3 per cent on daily balances. One man had $32,000 on deposit.

Hotels Are Unroofed and the Guests Get a Good Wetting.

New York, August 24 .- A heavy gale with rain in torrents struck this vicinity last night, giving none of the usual warnings. The weather was very sullen up to about 11 o'clock. Then a slight breeze sprang up and within ten minutes a fullfledged cyclone was blowing, bringing with it a deluge of rain that made a new record. There were nearly four inches of rainfall on the record for September 22d and 23d, 1882, but last night's rainfall exceeded four inches. Cellars and basements along West and South streets-the river fronts-were flooded and much damage to goods was caused. Trees all over the city were uprooted or stripped of their branches. Central park suffered heavily in this way. Brooklyn also suffered greatly in Prospect park and on the shaded streets. Yachts, rowboats and small crafts of all kinds were driven ashore by the hundred in neighboring waters. There was an extraordinary high tide and as both shores of Long Island sound and the south shore o Long island are dotted with harbors well filled with pleasure crafts, the loss among these was very heavy. Lives Lost at Asbury Park. The greatest calamity to life was at Asbury Park, N. J., where the fishing schooner Mary F. Kelley, of New York, blew ashore and was wrecked in front of the town. The captain, mate, steward and one sailor were drowned. The steward was drowned in his galley. Seven members of the crew were saved by three guests and the proprietor of the Columbia hotel, who were out on the beach in the storm. They were W. Harvey Jones, the proprietor; Walter and Malcom Dickenson, of Philadelphia, and a Mr. Laid, of Alabama. They saw the wreck, and securing ropes threw them from the board walk to the vessel. One man was rescued through the efforts of Horace W. Boardman, aged fourteen years, of Camden, N. J., who succeeded in throwing a rope to him. The loss at Salisbury Park will be $35, 000, and as much at Orange Grove. At west Brighton rows of bath houses were torn from their foundations and distributed along the beach and washed out to sea. Small buildings were overturned and there was a general wreckfing of shanties, sheds, merry-go-rounds and other apparatus used to amuse the crowds that visit the islands. Manhattan island escaped more serious damage than the other parts of the islands for the reason that the buildings are of a larger and better class and there is no beach for the waves to wreck, the whole shore of Manhattan beach being protected by a heavy bulkhead which held the seas in check. The only damage done at this point was the heavy spray which beat over the bulkheads, damaging the lawn and flowerbeds and undermining slightly the Manhattan Beach hotel, causing it to settle in places. Chicago, August 24.—Fire broke out at 5 o'clock this afternoon in South Chicago in a three-story brick building, corner Nine ty-first street and Superior avenue. A gale was blowing and the flames quickly swept through five blocks to the lake. Most of the buildings destroyed wer frame dwellings occupied by employes of the large steel mills of the Illinois Steel Com pany. The rapidity of the spread of the fire caused a panic. The entire district is crowded with imflammable material—immense lumber yards. Every engine in the south side of the city that could be spared was sent into the threatened territory and also the big fire boat, Yosemite. The fire was under control at 9 o'clock in the evening. Two hundred and fifty houses were burned and 7,000 people were made home less. The money loss is estimated at million dollars.

CERTIFICATES IN NEW ORLEANS.

The Clearing House Adopts a Plan to Relieve the Stringency.

New Orleans, La., August 24.—The New Orleans Clearing House Association met to-Orleans Clearing House Association met today and took action on the proposition made to issue clearing house certificates for small sums to take the place of currency. The recent action of the banks left the planters without money to move the crops and a plan to overcome this state of affairs was thus rendered advisable. After discussion the following plan was adopted: Issue certificates of deposit to persons having money on deposit, payable to themselves or bearer, in sums of $5, $10, $20 or more, and make the certificates payable through the clearing house.
The members were unanimous in the belief that this plan would give the relief required, not only to planters, but to business men as well. The certificates will be just as good as money and can be as widely circulated.

Nashville, Tenn., August 24 .- Rev. Dh Howard, who was arrested in Chicago on August 4th, on the charge of using the mails for fraudulent purposes and immediately afterwards escaped from an officer, is again in custody. A dispatch from Jackson, Tenn., says that Dr. Howard returned to Jackson via the Illinois Central railroad at 6 o'clock this morning and was arrested at the residence of Mrs. Hughes, his mother-in-law. He appeared before United States Commissioner R. 1. Chester and asked for bail, waiving examination. His bond was fixed at $10,000, which he insisted was excessive. The doctor thinks he can readily give the bond. He talked freely of his arrest and escape in Chicago and says he had proposed to come home voluntarily and after starting he feared arrest and, therefore, went east and sought the present opportunity to return. He says he is confident of his acquittal before the court which convenes in October.

ARRESTING CATTLE THIEVES.

Officers Determined to Stop the Depredation Along the Rio Grande.

San Antonio, Tex., August 24 .- A dispatch from Fort McKavett states the numerous cattle thieves and smugglers who infest that section of the upper Rio Grands order, are being rounded up and that there border, are being rounded up and that there is much excitement over the arrests which have already been made. Sheriffs from Valverde and the surrounding counties have been out night and day for the last week; in all, about fifty men. The hunt is not over yet, and more arrests are expected to follow in a few days. All who have been arrested so far are prominent citizens and their arrest created great surprise in the community. This stealing has been going on for some time, but detectives have been working on the case and were only waiting until they could get up a good case before doing anything decisive.

CONSTITUTIONAL.

So Judge MacDonnell Declares a Very Important Act.

THE COLE CASE HAS BEEN DECIDED

It Goes Against the Plaintiff Because His Petition Is Defective, but the Law Is Upheld.

Savannah, Ga., August 24 .- (Special.)-Judge A. H. MacDonnell rendered his decision in the case of Cole vs. the Savannah, Florida and Western Railway Company today.

The case is one involving the right of a railway company to discharge an employe without giving him truthful reasons when they are demanded in writing. R. H. Cole was discharged by the Savannah, Florida and Western Railway Com-pany some time ago. He demanded the reasons for his discharge and reasons were reasons for his discharge and reasons were given. He denied on oath that they were the truthful reasons and brought suit against the company for $5,000 under a recent well-known law passed by the legislature.

It was argued by Erwin, duBignon & Chisolm, Mr. Chisolm handling the case, that the law was unconstitutional on several grounds, namely, that it contained subject matter not indicated in the title subject matter not indicated in the title and that the fine was an excessive one. The demurrer was oversuled, but Mr. Chisolm was allowed to reopen his argument in order to present several new points.

The decision is a very important one, especially to railroad companies and companies.

excessive fines piea, and also on the piea that the act is not general. He holds that the "excessive fines" clause of the constitution refers to criminal proceedings, and he holds that the law is not class legislation, citing many authorities in support of his position. He also holds that the law is uniform in its operations, reaching this conclusion:

He also holds that the law is uniform in its operations, reaching this conclusion:

As under the decisions first quoted this is a general law, it does not collide with the clause in the constitution which provides that "no special law shall be enacted for which provision has been made by an existing general law." And as it is not "special legislation" within tife meaning of the constitution of 1877, it is not under the prohibition contained in the last clause of the same paragraph. Code, section 5027. A Young Man Died a Horrible Death Yesterday.

George Willis, the fourteen-year-old son of J. W. Willis, a painter, died a horrible death at his father's home, 6 D'Alvigny street, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

Every indication pointed to hydrophobia as the cause of the death. Three months ago the boy was bitten by a dog supposed to be mad, and a few days ago he was taken ill and the peculiar symptoms indicated hydrophobia. The young fellow suffered great torture during his illness and was thrown from spasm to spasm.

His death occurred yesterday morning at 10 o'clock and it is the strong belief of all bis relatives that he died from the

Mr. Allen Speaks.

Mr. Allen described himself as an humble member of a new political party which had recently come into public notice. He then proceeded to make a long legal and historical argument to prove that silver is the money of the constitution and that the power to control and regulate the value of money is a political power conferred upon congress under the constitution. He argued against the unconditional repeal of the Sherman act, which was, he said, the last feeble barrier between the patriotic and industrious classes of the people and that horde of insolent, aggressive and ravenous men, the gamblers of Lombard street and of Wall street, who would, for private gain, through a contracted volume of money, turn the world back into the gloom of the dark ages, with all its attendant evils and miseries.

the Financial Question. Washington, August 24.—The day was devoted to debate upon financial measures. and Hartman.

Pickler's Propositions.

Mr. Pickler's republican, of South Dak ta, asked unani, anous consent that, on Menday next, when the bill was taken up for action, he be permitted to offer an amendment, if the substitute of Mr. Bland is defeated, providing for the free coinage of the American product at the ratios indicated in the substitute, but Mr. Wilson, in charge of the bill, objected. The gentleman from South Dakota then asked consent to introduce on Jonday, August 28th, an amendment providing that vi' all the substitutes and all standard them seed to house shall proceed to your on flouse bill No. 2, providing for the free cchage of silver, limited in the American product at ratios from it to i up to 20 to 1. This was objected to by Mr. Tracy, demograt, of New York because it changed the order agreed upon. Mr. Pickler then proceeded to criticise President Cleveland as being under English influence. Mr. Cleveland he looked upon as the greatest convert to the ranks of the gold men—a convert backed up and supported by the London "Missionary Society."

In conclusion, Mr. Pickler, whose Lime had been extended three different times, argued in favor of such legislation as would keep up the volume of the country depended. Arr. Wilson, republican, of Onlo, was in Invor of the government maintaining the double standard. He would be glad to vete for a ratio that would maintain a parity between the two metals; but if this privilege were defined him, there was but one course left to him, and that was to vote for the repeal.

Mr. Van Voorhis, republican, of New York, while advocating the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman law, criticised the Wilson bill, believing that all the money the United States now had should be maintained at a parity.

George Washington Murray.

George Washington Murray.

After half a dozen had spoken on the currency the floor was taken by George Washington Murray, of South Carolina. Murray is the only representative of the colored race in congress. Judging by his face there is not a drop of white blood running in his veins; but his voice did not show his African origin.

On the settlement of this pending proposition, he said, there were three distinct and somewhat antagonistic elements. The first class was composed of bankers and commercial men who controlled the currency. The second class was composed of the owners of silver mines, and all the uncoined butlon not, in the possession of the government. The third class was composed of the tolling and producing millions, who were neither goldbugs nor silver bugs. (Applause.) To the last class nearly all of his constituents and his whole race belonged. (Applause.) In many respects he represented a larger constituency than any other man on the floor. He represented a constituency of 280,000 and he ripresented a constituency of 280,000 and he ripresented.

He did not believe that the great troubles He did not believe that the great troubles now existing were attributable to the Sherman law. His race had felt the mailed hand long before 1890. He attributed the distress to the centraction of the circulating medium and in his opinion it could be relieved only by the enlargement of the volume of money. His constituency combined patriotism with seif-interest. (Applause.) His race believed that there was not enough money in the world to act as currency. It was in favor of making up the deficiency with silver, and to that extent he was in favor of free colnage and bimetallism. Never in his history had a black hand been raised to strike down the flag of metallism. Never in his history had a black hand been raised to strike down the flag of his country. (Applause.) Nothwithstanding ill treatment the black men of this country had been always found voting and shooting for America. (Applause.) At the conclusion of Murray's speech the house adjourned.

A summer traveler through the north and west has written recently to one of his friends and described Chicago as the most stirring city, Quebec the most picturesque and dirtiest, Toronto the slowest, New York the gayest and Boston the wickedest. Now the question is, what in the name of culture and prudery did this inquisitive young man find in Boston? This announcement, after all we have seen and heard of the Midway plaisance, is replete with potent and horrible suggestions. To what part of the Hub did he betake himself upon his visit? Surely he must have had the inquisitiveness of a Pepys and the explorative tendencies of a Stanley to discover so much dire sin in Boston and the fact makes one want to know if the good pople there have gone mad in free love and elective affinities. Has the Puritan instead tuned mad after long years of perpendicular incarceration and exploded into that wild and abandoned recklessness that is sometimes the result of hard laws and dogmas? Mr. Pappa appeared before Judge Calhoun and stated that his clock was slow, and that he was not aware that he was open longer than usual. The officers said that it was the first time such a thing had occurred.

"This is a serious offense," said Judge Calhoun, "and if there was any evidence here showing that you intentionally violated the law, I would apply the penalty. But as it is I will let you go this time without a fine. But you must remember that if such a case as this is made again your license will be forfeited."

He instructed the officers to bring Mr. Rhumann to court, as he failed to appear yesterday.

Detective Crim Recovered the Goods.

Gloom was cast over the community yes-

Gloom was cast over the community yesterday when it was announced that those beloved relies of the departed Atlanta baseball team, the uniforms worn by the players and the celebrated bat with which Motz was wont to swat the ball, had disappeared, and had fallen into the irreverent hands of some thief who did not hold them second.

hands of some thief who did not hold them sacred.

Joy will break like a flood of light over the city when it is stated this morning that the relics have all been recovered, and the name of Detective Crim, who recovered the goods, will come in for a big share of praise. The detective found the goods at a house on Whitehall street yesterday and he says the thieves are white boys whom he intends to catch and make bear the penalty of their unpardonable crime.

Said She Fired I. Said She Fired It.

The case against J. H. Davis, who is charged with being drunk, disorderly, dis-charging firearms and resisting an officer, was tried yesterday afternoon. The facts shown at the trial were that Mr. Davis got drunk and was sent home by his employers in a hack. Five minutes after he went in his home, a pistol was heard to fire and a big crowd gathered. It was thought that he had shot his wife, but she appeared in court yesterday and stated that she fired the pistol herself. She stated that she fired the pistol herself stated that she fired the pistol herself. She said that she had the pistol in her hand and it accidently went off.

In view of the wife's statement and the previous good character of Mr. Davis, only a small fine of $3 and costs was imposed.

Arrested Again. H. F. Blackwell, a former locomotive en-

H. F. Blackwell, a former locomotive engineer, was yesterday arrested on a wagnant sworn out by Mr. J. D. Patterson, assistant trainmaster of the Georgia Pacific railroad. Mr. Blackwell was recently laid off by Mr. Patterson, and afterwards went to that gentleman's office, where a quarrel took place, during which Mr. Patterson says that Blackwell showed him a revolver three times.

The case was tried in police court, and Mr. Blackwell paid his fine. Yesterday, Mr. Patterson swore out a warrant and Patrolman Powell arrested the ex-engineer.

HELPING THOSE WHO NEED IT.

The Industrial Council Is at Work Doing All the Good That Can Be Done. The work of the industrial council in earing for the laboring men out of work was gener-ally discussed throughout the city yesterday. And everywhere the movement was given

And everywhere the movement was given heard of it:

Mr. George Evans, president of the industrial council, was busy during the day receiving the callers who wanted to register and in sending the contributions which earns to Dr. Turner at the office of the associated charities on Hunter street.

"I think," said Mr. Evans, "that we did the best thing possible when we secured the aid of Dr. Turner. At the hall I can receive the men who come in and see that they are registered properly and then if I see fit, or if any other member of the committee sees fit to give them an honor on Dr. Turner, it is honored. Or if they go direct to the doctor and he honors their request it is the same. We find a great deal of suffering and want in the city and if it was anywhere else than in Atlanta, one conversunt with it might become alarmed. But knowing that Atlanta always take care of those in need, we feel no hesitancy in snying that all of those who may apply and are deserving of help will be cared for."

Nobody in the city of Atlanta has ever worked harder than the Industrial council for the benefit of the poor of the city The committee is doing everything in its power for the benefit of those who need help and every case that comes before them is being thoroughly investigated.

A BIG COLORED MEETING,

A BIG COLORED MEETING,

Held Last Night, Calls for the Consumption of Home Products.

of Home Products.

Five hundred colored people met at the county courthouse last night.

And the five hundred came together for the purpose of endorsing the home manufacturers' movement and it was a genuine endorsement that was given.

S. H. Jackson was made the president of the meeting and R. T. Davis was selected as secretary. The object of the meeting was stated by A. A. Blake. The Rev. G. W. Arnold made the address of the evening and called upon those present to stand by the home manufacturers. He declared that the people could not expect work unless they bought work from those for whom they were working. He advised the colored people to patronize home industries and to buy what they used from Atlanta manufactories or their salesrooms or merchants who handled the goods when they could be had. He jumped on the money lender and declared that it was wrong for the people to do business with him in any way. He asserted that they all charged an exorbitant rate of interest and that no one could use their money without finding himself worse off. The following series of resolutions were then adopted:

The following series of resolutions were then adopted:

Resolved, That we, the mass meeting assembled in the county courthouse for the consideration of the condition of our people who are unemployed, after hearing some discussion of the opinions of the manufacturers who have pledged themselves to give employment to our people are in earnest in what they say, and we hereby pledge ourselves to encourage and patronize home industry in portion as they may give employment to our race. We urge our colored merchants to give home manufactured articles preferense of consideration and, all things being equal, we ask them to purchase of them and thereby build up a great and lasting bulwark of manufacture and consumption that will be of lasting and unlimited benefit to all the people and especially to our race.

unilmited benefit to all the people and especially to our race.

Resolved, That we, the colored citizens of Atlanta tender our heartlest thanks to the Hon. H. C. Stockdell and the general council for an appropriation of $5,000 for the employment of the anemployed laborers of Atlanta and other steps taken to secure money to advance the work of the city.

Whereas, The times are hard and the people are in destitute circumstances, Resolved further, That we beg the indulgence of the general council of the city of Atlanta to extend the time of the paying of taxes from the 20th of September to the 20th of November, thereby allowing all an opportunity to get the money to pay the same.

WEATHER FORECAST AND SYNOPSIS.

Yesterday was another warm day in Atlanta. During the afternoon the mercury climbed up to 90 degrees; only on one other day has it been as hot this month, and then no hotter. All through Georgia the day was warm. Griffin reported a maximum temperature of 92 degrees and Gainesville one of 94 degrees. The latter temperature one of 94 degrees. The latter temperature was as high as any reported in the whole United States. The coolest city to report yesterday was St. Paul, where the highest, or maximum, temperature for the day was but 68 degrees. Some other cities of the but 68 degrees. Some other cities of the northwest reported the weather as a trifle cool, and in the northeast at Buffalo and New York city it was not very warm, but in all other parts of the country warm weather prevalled yesterday. Even as far north as Chicago the temperature was up to 88 degrees.

Little rainfall has been reported in the past twenty-four hours other than light local showers in the upper half of the Missisppi valley and in some portions of Texas.

For Georgia today: Fair; no decided change in temperature.

A PRIMARY

is Now Being Pavored in the Macon Mayoralty Contest.

THE NEW CHARTER STILL UNDER WAY.

Weston Patterson Will Accept-Colonel Glessner and His Car of Exhibits Leave for Ohio-News Notes.

Macon, Ga., August 24 .- (Special.)-There is some talk of having a primary election for mayor and aldermen, in other words, have a democratic nomination at which only white voters will be allowed to vote. Those in favor of this plan say a primary is always held for the dem cratic nomination of county officers and members of the legislature, and they do not see why the same rule couldn't obtain in the mayoralty contest. They claim that when the race is open to all the negroes have the balance of power. A democratic primary is the thing with many, and one when the race is open on the content primary is the thing with many, and one may be held. Usually the mayor and aldermen have been elected in a free-for-all contest, but many have grown tired of the illegal voting and general evil practices which they allege have prevailed, frequently thwarting the will of the people.

Who will be the next mayor of Macon will soon become the absorbing question and topic of conversation. If a primary is held, it may overthrow the calculations of some aspirants.

There is a report prevalent in the city today that Captain S. S. Dunlap will be a candidate for mayor. I have not been able to see the gentleman to verify the rumor. Captain Dunlap would make a strong race. He is one of Macon's most highly esteemed citizens, and a large and wealthy hardware merchant. He was formerly an alderman of the city for several years and was chairman of the finance committee. He would make a strong race. If the contest is waged on the lines of administration and anti-administration candidates the battle will be red hot. If each side has a mayoralty candidate the race will be the most exciting since the days of the famous Huff-Collins campaign.

The next mayor of Macon will be one of the following gentleman. John D. Hudgns, W. H. Ross, J. F. Hanson, R. H. Smith, George C. Price, W. R. Cox, W. A. Davis, A. L. Miller, E. D. Huguenin, S. S. Dunlap, Henry Horne. The names of these gentlemen are frequently mentioned in connection with the mayoralty. Some 'are willing to run and some are not. It now seems that two things must happen if the present incumbent, Hon. S. B. Price, is a candidate for reelection as mayor. The city charter must be changed before Price can be eligible to relection, and he must be unsuccessful in his candidacy for postmaster at Macon.

The New Charter.

The New Charter. Time is rapidly speeding away and the new city charter has not yet been entirely framed and submitted to the general comframed and submitted to the general committee of citizens for approval. It was thought that he subcommittee of lawyers to whom has been delegated the duty of drafting a new charter would meet last week and perform the duty assigned them. but sickness and other causes prevented. The charter will have to be submitted at the next session of the legislature for passage, but if better progress is not made at home on the work of perfecting the charter the legislature will have met and adjourned without acting on the new charter. Macon needs a new charter and should have it.

It is generally believed that City Attorney R. W. Patterson will accept the government appointment recently made him as registrar of the land office in Oklahoma, with headquarters at Guthrie. Mrs. Patterson, who has been sumering at Rome, was wired by Mr. Patterson to meet him in Chicago. She arrived there several days ago and it is understood that Mrs. Patterson will return to Macon and prepare with her family to leave for Oklahoma the first week in September.

GRIFFIN'S POSOFFICE.

The Proposition to Mov It Is Resisted by Citizens-A Mass beting Held. Citizens—A Mass beting Held.

Griffin, Ga., August 2—(Special.)—The people of Griffin are bnewhaz wrought up over the proposed movement of the postoffice to the old pce on the corner of Hill and Broad stets. Postmaster Hudson, who was apinted under the new administration, habeen petitioned by nearly all of the busins man of the city to retain the office at refer the present location, the proposed blee being objectionable on account of grooms and then being away from the bujess center of the town.

The petition had no eight with the postmaster, and consequely a mass meeting of the business me and patrons of the office was held thimorning for the purpose of devising sommeans by which the wishes of the citize could be recognized.

The meeting was qui enthusiastic and The meeting was qui enthusiastic and at one time it seemed kely that trouble would follow. A commee was appointed to wait on PostmasteHudson and ask him to attend the meng in order that some agreement mighte reached.

Mr. Hudson came and stated that he had rented the buing at the corner of Hill and Broad stres, the papers were all signed up and thate intended to move the office.

After this statement? C. G. Mills introduced a resolution that a committee consisting of Thomas VII, Henry C. Burrand W. H. Brewere appointed to wire the postmaster genel and ask that he withhold the order the postoffice at Griffin until the wies of the majority of the citizens coulde ascertained.

This brought our lengthy discussion and Judge R. T. iniel moved that it be tabled, but on talg a vote the motion to table was lost a the original resolution coming up was eased by a good majority. Subsequently it as decided that two petitions should be reliculated at the same time, one for the removal and the other for the retention of the office in some centrally located poin order that a conclusion might be rehed as to what was the wish of the maity of the patrons of the office.

wish of the ma'ty of the patrons of the office.

It is confiden expected that fully three-fourths of theitizens will sign the petition against t'removal.

Mr. Hudsonas made a good officer so far and it is ped that he will accede to the wishes one patrons.

Some rease given for the removal are that there a some axes to be ground.

NEW ROUTES

Which Are Proposed to Give Augusta Better Railroad Facilities.

NEW FAST TRAIN TO ATLANTA

By the G., C. & N. Is the Latest Talk-Ef-Police Circles-Other Items.

Augusta, Ga., August 24.—(Special.)-There is talk here that unless the Georgia railroad replaces the fast train to get the Georgia, Carolina and Northern and the Port Royal and Western Carolina railroad to make close connection at Calhoun Falls and run a convenient and fast train between Augusta and Atlanta. It is only fourteen miles further by this route than by the Georgia road. A Plan Suggested.

A plan to get the Atlantic Coast Line to come to Augusta instead of building from Denmark, S. C., to Millen, Ga., and side-tracking this city has been suggested and will be proposed to the authorities of the road. The Central railroad has notified the stockholders of the Augusta and Savannah road of its willingness to surrender the lease of the branch road from here to Millen. It is now suggested that the stockholders accept theoffer and they unite with the merchants and citizens and meet the Coast Line people and try to get them to come to Augusta from Denmark over the South Carolina road and use the Augusta and Savannah road from here to Millen, which seems to be the point the Coast Line is anxious to reach to make connection with the Central road for Florida.

In Police Circles.

Tom Allen, the negro who ran away from Angusta, and who has been in Edgefield county, South Carolina, for several months working on farms, and who was suspected of being the murderer of Policeman Parker, was arrested last evening, and after the investigation that he was arrested last evening, and after the investigation today it was found that he was not the murderer.

A case was reported by the police this afternoon against Dr. J. M. Carter, who is charged by Allen Jackson, colored, with having shot at him. The doctor claims the pistol was accidentally discharged. The negro declares Dr. Carter shot at him interviewed by the property of the tentionally because he was unwilling to wipe up some whitewash he had spilt on the doctor's floor without extra pay.

The City and the Railroad.

A tilt is on between the city and the Georgia railroad over the opening of Cumming street, which the city recently bridged. The road claims the property belongs to it, and gives notice it will resist any trespass on its right of way. The city claims the right to open up the street. The matter is now in the hands of the attorneys. The street has not yet been thrown open for travel.

SOMETHING OF INTEREST TO ALL.

Do We Eat to Live?

Or do we live to eat? That is a question I or do we live to ear? That is a question I hear often discussed. Well, one may take either horn of the dilemma, the stern fact stares us in the face—we must eat.

Now comes up the great and most important problem. It is this: Where to go and where to buy? First-Where to go, is to a house that keeps a general assortment of all goods that are needed in one's family, and at the same time, fresh, clean and nice, and of the best and most select brands, and such a best and most select brands, and such a house must have a trade that will enable it to buy largely and receive goods daily, consequently fresh.

Where to Buy—Is from a house that keeps full stocks and will, in all and every way, treat and deal with you fairly and honestly and where you can buy as well, if not better, by an order than in person. We claim we have at least just such facilities in Atlanta afforded by the two large grocery houses of W. R. Hoyt, on Whitehall and Peachtree streets. Mr. Hoyt's stores are noted all over the state, and I will go further and say over a good portion of the south, as he makes a specialty of furnishing a great number of the best hotels, boarding houses and families in Georgia as well as Fiorida, South Carolina and Alabama. Ho buys in carload lots and for cash, and he can sell at regular wholesale prices and also give purchasers the very great advantage of give purchasers the very great advantage of buying at case prices, as he will break and sell any amount at package prices, the broken lots left over he can daily use in his two large retail stores.

No Commercial Disunion.

The petition of the state officials of Kansas asking Governor Stone, of Missouri, to call a convention of western and southern governors and delegates to take such united action as will protect the interests of those sections, is construed in the east as an effort to bring about commercial disunion or secession.

Fortunately, the western governors, with few exceptions, oppose the scheme of the Kansas populists, and it is not likely that a single southern governor favors any movement that looks to commercial division. Governor Stone favors the convention. He would make St. Louis the money center and Galves ton the outlet for the west and south. Lewelling, of Kansas, and Pennoyer, of Oregon, are for the convention, and Governor Waite, of Colorado, is, of course, on this line. The other western governors, so far as heard from, are against any commercial division. As Governor McGraw, of Washington, puts it:

The scheme for a commercial division be tween the east and the west should be denounced by every patriotic citizen who owes allegiance to the Américan fing, whether by birth of by adoption; that the whether by onth of a governors can proposed convention of governors can serve no patriotic end, and that its results would be contumely and obloquy.

The governors and the people of the southern states believe that this is one country, with one flag and one destiny. They want no sectional discriminations, and no combinations that would build up one part of the country at the expense of another. They believe that a house divided against itself cannot stand, and they cling to the hope that the resources of our statesmanship and patriotism will crystallize into wise and just laws that will bring prosperity and happiness to our whole people, from Maine to Texas, and from Carolina to Colorado. So far as our financial and commercial interests are concerned, we ask for nothing more than a fair field, with equal justice to all and special privileges to none.

No Six Months' Sus

The proposition made in several quarters to suspend the 10 per cent tax on state bank notes for the period of six months will not commend itself to those who take a business-like view of it.

The democratic party asks for no limited or temporary repeal of the tax. It recommends its repeal in a straightout, anconditional way, without any modifying or qualifying words. The platform is the guide-the law-of the party.

It is entirely out of the question and wholly impracticable to re-establish state banks for six months. Many states are without any statutes under which such banks could be organized, and some of their legislatures will not meet for more than a year. Then, more than a dozen states have constitutional obstacles in the way, and it would take a year or two to remove them. Bankers do not care to issue notes for a few months, and then have to call them in and pay a 10 per cent tax on those that remained in circulation after the six months' limit.

It is no time for a timid, temporizing policy-no time for unsatisfactory substitutes and makeshifts. The only way to meet the emergency is to redeem the pledges of our platform. The democrats in congress who insist that the repeal of the Sherman law should be unconditional cannot favor a conditional repeal of the state bank tax without being guilty of the most absurd and glaring inconsistency. The fact is, the state bank plank is the most positive and unconditional request that is made in that entire document.

We cannot afford to play with this plank in a childish way, nor can we afford to agree to a temporary experiment when we are in duty bound to establish a permanent financial system.

Senator Voorhees is exactly right when he demands the repeal of the state bank tax because it is an unconstitutional, pretended tax, imposed not to raise revenue, but to paralyze the faculties and power of the state governments which are essential to the efficient and independent agement and administration of their internal affairs. The senator in his recent speech made it plain that the exace of state banks in four states of on at the time of the adoption of the federal constitution was recognized by the framers of that instrument, and he only restrictions imposed were those forbidding states to emit bills of credit to make anything but gold and silver al tender. Mr. Voorhees also made positive statement that no person ever lost a dollar by the depreciaion of the notes of any regularly char-dened state bank—the wild cat concerns being simply private or free banks, and not state chartered banks.

The duty of the democrats in congress is clearly pointed out in their plat-form. They should unconditionally reform. They should unconditionally re-peal the state bank tax and not sacrifice or cripple such a great remedial measure by trimming it down into a temporary makeshift that would be utilized in only a few states for a few weeks or months.

By All Means, Repeal It. Repeal the infamous measure enacted by he republicans.—Evening Journal of Yester-

Yes, by all means repeal! The Constitution heartily endorses the above sentiment, and it does not require that we change our position to do so. The Sherman law is now and has always been "a cowardly makeshift," enacted by republican votes, and since its passage it has had but few defenders in this country, and from among the spasmodic arguments that have been advanced in its favor, we quote the following from the editorial columns of The Journal:

The repeal of the Sherman law will bring about a contraction of the currency that will be deplorable.—Evening Journal of January 4, 1892.

Mr. Cleveland is in favor of letting ale the present silver act, which provides for the colnage of 54.000,000 silver dollars a the colnage of 54.000,000 silver dollars a year. Governor Hill would have us repeal that law and return to the Bland act, which would give us only $24,000,000 of silver colnage a year. Mr. Cleveland is a better friend to silver by $34,000,000 a year than is Governor Hill.—Journal of January 2, 1900

The position of The Constitution cannot be misunderstood by those who are not bent upon doing so. The Sherman law is a political outcast and as such it should be given the grand bounce.

Its repeal will most emphatically not bring about a "deplorable contraction of the currency," for when the democratic administration carries out the pledge of the party and enacts legislation favoring the coinage of both gold and silver, without discrimination against either metal, we will have a measure for the prevention of which the Sherman law was enacted as "a cowardly makeshift," and which will help bring the relief the peo-

Atlanta Will Respond.

From the fever-scourged and sorely mitten city of Brunswick comes an appeal for aid that will touch every heart. Brunswick is in distress. The plague omes in the midst of a financial panic. Business is paralyzed; the stores and factories are closed, and ships shun the port. Hundreds of helpless people there will soon be on the verge of starvation inless help comes from the outside.

Times are anything but easy in this egion, but Atlanta will respond. She has never failed yet to do her duty in such emergencies, and she will not fail Yesterday Mr. R. F. Shedden, of the New York Mutual Insurance Company, who is at present out of the city, telegraphed authority to put him down for $100 for the Brunswick sufferers. Others will follow.

The Constitution will gladly receive money or supplies and see that they are promptly forwarded to the proper authorities in Brunswick. Let us whirl in and help that stricken city.

A Caucus the Remedy.

What is the meaning of the suddenly developed opposition to a democratic caucus at this time? It is a time-honored method of settling party differences and of preventing dangerous divisions in the organization. It is the only reasonable and safe method of concentratopinions threaten discord.

There never was a time when the oncentration of the party strength was more important than now. There never was a time when the future usefulness of the organization was more dependent on the harmony and unity of its representatives in congress. We are told that the question is above party; but no question that concerns the vital interests of the people is above party; and in this case the party has solemnly pledged itself to a course which the people have enthusiastically endorsed, and which they confidently expect to see carried out. The objection does not sustain itself. It has no basis. The democratic voters of the country do not place the financial question above party. They have, in fact, empowered the party to act on it, and at Chicago, the organization pledged itself to act.

But this is not all. The failure to hold a caucus—the failure of the democrats to get together and settle their differences in their own ranks-does not place the question above party. On he contrary it gives the republican party control of the whole matter, and enables that vicious organization to dictate what the course of the democratic majority shall be. The people are not The situation is perfectly clear to them. They have given the demoeratic party a working majority in both nouses and they will hold that party esponsible for any failure to carry out the pledges made at Chicago.

The caucus is a test of democratic fealty. Does any democrat in either house object to such a test? Will any democrat refuse to go into a caucus? The president's message has not changed the situation in any respect. It has not wiped out the pledges of the platform. It has not lessened the democratic responsibility by so much as the shadow of suade. The democratic majority in both houses is confronted by a republican ninority which, by combining with an nsignificant minority of democrats gives to the republicans practical control of inancial legislation. Does it help maters to inform the people at this hour that the financial question is above party, when, in point of fact, owing to democratic division, it is controlled by the republican party? The people cannot be deceived in this matter. They cannot be put off with puerile explanations that do not explain. They know that the democratic party has a working majority in both houses of congress. They know that all delay s caused by the refusal of a few democrats to carry out the clear and unmistakable pledges of the platform. The people know that the Sherman law can be repealed and the pledges of the platform be carried out in a few hours if ocrats do their duty.

The remedy and the only remedy is a party caucus called, not for the purpose of whipping recalcitrant democrats into line, but for the purpose of settling and compounding all differences, so that the wisdom and statesmanship of the party may prevail over undigested and impracticable individual opinions and ideas; so that the organization may not find itself-torn and divided by internal dissensions-unable to reach forth a hand to pluck the first and most important fruits of its great victory. Among the wisest and most patriotic democrats there is already a tendency to heal these early wounds. Senator Voorhees, although his speech has been interpreted as a vindication of the element that refuses to carry out the plain terms of the platform, clearly intimated that if it were necessary to secure the repeal of the Sherman law he would vote for a free coinage law, tempered to the demands of the party and the necessities of the hour. This is the spirit of a true democrat. Hon. Henry G. Turner, one of the wisest and most experienced democrats in congress, says that the party should get together and settle its differences in its own ranks. Congressman Hatch, of Missouri, advocates a caucus. That is the remedy for a sitnation which bristles with danger.

There is nothing in the way of prompt emocratic action but a democratic minority that would be insignificant if it vere not sure of the sympathy and support of the republican organization. All the machinery for prompt action is at hand, ready and waiting for the democrats to get together and settle their lifferences. Everything is ripe. The people are waiting expectantly. All that is necessary is a party cancus in which democrats can adjust their disagreements and heal the division that ow holds up its gaping front to the public.

As matters now stand the republican party in congress holds the balance of ower and is the arbiter of legislation. The situation is so intolerable, so dangerous and so disappointing that the democrats never can succeed in explaining to an impatient and a disgusted people why, with a clear majority in both uses, they were unable to redeem their solemn party pledges. No explanation will fit the case. The democrats cannot escape the responsibility that the people have imposed upon them.

The remedy is to be found in a cau cus. Let the party get together, redeem its pledges and save the organiza-

More Trouble.

Some of the eastern newspapers that were for a tariff for revenue only, or for even a more radical form of free trade. have apparently been carried on a mountain top and shown the glory of the Those that were the most rampant have beheld the most enchanting vision.

They now say that the tariff pledge nailed into the platform by the unaninous voice of the party in open convention, was merely a trick intended to defeat Mr. Cleveland before the people. We have not yet discovered by what methods of reasoning they reach such a onclusion, seeing that the convention was a Cleveland convention, and that the tariff plank was an undoubted stimulant of the popular enthusiasm that gave the party victory.

But no matter. The newspapers in the east that were formerly rampant for free trade say that the tariff plank is a fraud, and their conclusion is more important than their logic. They say that the tariff plank is a trick, and they assert that Mr. Celveland kicked it out the nomination.

As these quondam free trade organs are now declaring in one breath against lemocratic tariff reform and in another that the single gold standard should be set up and maintained, we judge that there nas been a coalition, offensive and de fensive, between the international goldtrust and the protected interests. The suggestion has a special significance. othing could be more natural than such coalition. The contest that is now on is one between the east and all the rest of the country. It is in the east that the protected interests and the money power have their stronghold. Their terests demand a coalition. The free trade element prefers protection to bi metallism; the money power needs the votes and influence of the tariff reformers to carry out the plans of its British

More than this, only the existence of such a coalition can explain the startling change that has come over some of the rampant free trade organs of the east. What is to be the outcome? Another ontest in congress over the tariff on the lines that now mark the financial contest. There will be a demand for the repeal of the McKinley law, and there the eastern element will want to stop, just as they want to stop with the repeal of the Sherman law.

This is the outlook. What is to be the result? No one knows, but it is the duty of Mr. Watterson to haul the stareyed goddess to the front and keep her Ample Notice Has Been Served. Secretary Carlisle was on the right line the other day when he told a republican clerk who thought that a week's notice asking for his resignation was too short, that ample notice was given on the 8th day of last November.

It is to be hoped that the secretary has authoritatively announced the policy of the administration. Such a declara tion is just what the country has been waiting for. In every state there are republican officials holding over for months beyond the four years to which their terms were limited. Here in Atlanta we have a republican postmaster who has been in office over four years. and there is no telling how much longer he will hold the fort. The administration has allowed our custom house officials to hold over beyond their terms, and there are thousands of similar cases elsewhere. Secretary Carlisle put the case sensi bly and justly when he said that ample notice was served on the republi They are not entitled to any extension of their terms under a democratic dministration.

urges Augusta to take is unreasonable If Augusta wishes to quarantine against Brunswick and shut out the refugees from that city, which is perfectly natural, she can do so without placing Atlanta under the ban. All that would be necessary would be the action of the Augusta authorities requiring all persons from Atlanta to show a clean bill of health, signed by the proper official. An Atlanta man, or travelers from New York, St. Paul and San Francisco who have been visiting our city ought not to be shut out from Augusta simply because the Brunswick refugees are not wanted there.

We feel confident that The Herald will agree with us. It is a plucky little paper and if it becomes the victim of an unnecessary panie it will make a bad If Augusta feels that extraordinary precautions are in order, the strangers entering her gates should be required to show satisfactory certificates signed by the health officials of their cities and towns. There is no excuse for wholesale quarantine, demoralizing business and scaring people out of their wits, without any shadow of reason.

Reciprocal Trade.

An Alabama correspondent, who evidently has a very mistaken idea of our organized effort to stimulate the patronage of home industries, asks the following question.

Editor Constitution .- In building the "Chi around Atlanta to keep trade within its borders are any openings to be left for the outside world to get in and bu from you, or do you just propose to deal among yourselves?

The tenor of all that has been said and written on the subject in Atlanta shows that the idea of our merchants and manufacturers is to encourage reciprocity in trade. Price and quality being equal, the preference should be given to the home-made article, and this should be the rule everywhere. But we propose to trade with any of our sister cities and towns in the south that will sell us better and cheaper goods than we manufacture here, and we naturally expect them to reciprocate. We are going to trade with the people who trade with us, and this far-reaching principle of reciprocity will bring very distant localities into close relations with us Atlanta will continue to purchase in the best markets, and, when our marke offers better inducements in certain lines of goods than competing markets, then we shall expect the patronage of the communities getting their fair share of our trade.

We join our correspondent in protest ing against the "Chinese wall" policy Narrow localism and aggressive section alism should receive no favor. We cannot sympathize with the efforts of certain leaders and newspapers in the west and southwest to organize those sections against the east, and we cannot denounce too severely The New York Evening Post's advice to the eastern merchants to refuse credit to their western customers who oppose the gold standard.

Reciprocity is the keynote. We are going to spend our money, as far as it is practicable with those who spend their money with us. We want no commer cial division between Atlanta and other towns-no division between the sections

"President Pat Calhoun and Mr. R. Boston Globe, democrat: Now that the con test between the free coinage men and the advocates of President Cleveland's financial policy is fairly under way it matters little how the committee on coinage is constituted or on what side the majority is to be counted.

Boston Herald, independent: In reappointing Mr. Bland as chairman of the coinage committee Speaker Crisp has shown to the fullest degree the courage of his unsoundness. It is the worst selection that could be made either from a political or a financial point of view. Politically, it is a serious blow to the democrats, as it will count to the discredit of their party with the business community. Financially, it is dangerous to the country, for it puts the wildest silverite of the house in a position where he can materially affect legislation on the currency. SECTIONAL VOICES. Chicago Inter Ocean: If the democratic party is not a sectional party then Speaker Crisp has been laboring under a misappre-hension. A Suggestion from West Point.

West Point, Ga., August 23.—Editor Constitution: Congress should let the treasurer of the United States do a little banking business. Heretofore the banks have been taking the exporters' drafts on cotton and sending the money to the interior, if parties so desired. The banks now object and want to paronly in exchange. I will illustrate. Suppose Lehman. Stern & Co., of New Orleaus, but 1,000 bales of cotton for their Liverpool house. They draw on them with bill of lading attached for $35,000. They take the draft to the mint or subtreasury in New Orleans and get the amount in gold, silver or currency. The draft is sent by the mint to the treasurer and he sends it to a London banking house for credit of the United States. It looks as though the government would be benefited by having the amount in London and the people would rejoice very much to have the cash in the Interior. The treasurer can be give great. A Suggestion from West Point having the amount in London and the would refolce very much to have the cash in the interior. The treasurer can give great relief, if permitted to do so, for a short time, until the banks get in condition to resume their old style of business.

No Spread, He Thinks. "Do you think there will be much of a spread in Brunswick?" was asked.

"No, I do not. I think the cases that are now there will be the end of it. If the authorities can do all they are trying to arrange to do towards checking the disease, it will not spread. If they cannot, however, then the worst will come, and it will be a fearful time of it in Brunswick until the frost comes and kills the plague." "What about the call for help by the authorities of the city; is there really much need of help down there?" "There is a very great need of help. There are many people too poor to get out of the city. Of course they could find help enough to get out, so far as that alone s concerned, for the railroads will do all they can to help the poor who want to get away. But there are those whose living s at stake in the work they are doing unswick and they cannot leave it. Here is the call for help sent by the authorities of the city of Brunswick to the Georgia members of congress yesterday:

The situation here is distressing. We are shut off from the outside world. Starvation stares the poor people in the face. The refugees, the ordinary breadwinners, with their families, have left the city without means. About four thousand people are left in the city unable to procure supplies. Atlanta's Board of Health. The board of health of Atlanta has taken every precaution to see that no yellow fever is brought to Atlanta among the es who have come this way.

They have met every train and with Chief Inspector Veal have gone through these trains, thoroughly searching to find any sickness of any kind was there.

and no suspicions of sickness aboard any of the trains.

Even if it had been the will of Atlanta to keep the refugees out of the city, the board of health would have been powerless to have done such a thing. It would have required a regular quarantine law to have enforced such a purpose.

The board of health acts under the city council, and is therefore powerless to keep anybody from coming to the city of Atlanta except sick persons with suspicions of contagious disease in the case.

The board of health is to be complimented for the good work it has done in being so active to prevent any fever coming in with the refugees.

Mayor Goodwin Talks.

Mayor Goodwin Talks. Mayor Goodwin Talks.

Mayor Goodwin will issue a proclamation today, if necessary, asking the citizens of Atlanta to do all in their power to helf the sufferers who are forced to remain in Brunswick and face the fever.

Similar proclammations have been and will continue to be issued all through the south.

Mayor Goodwin was seen last night and asked about the matter. He says he had thought of publicly endorsing the call yesterday, but has decided to call several members of the general council into consultation early this morning and decide whether to call a mass meeting or whether to simply endorse the call for aid.

"I am forced to believe from all I can "I am forced to believe from all I can learn, that there is a real need for help on the part of a certain class who have remained in Brunswick," said the mayor. "One thing may be relied upon at all times, and that is this: It takes no proclamations to get the people of Atlanta to do their full duty when it comes to such charity as this. I know a thing or two about the people of Atlanta, and I know that they will readily respond to any call the like of this when it is made to them so strikingly.

strikingly.
"I will call a meeting or else issue a simple proclamation as may be deemed necessary by the citizens, and I am certain that the people of Atlanta will come to the front as they always do under circumstances of this kind."

Spend Morey Cautiously.

A well-known Prunswick gentleman, who came to Atlanta with the yellow fever refugees, in talking over the situation there yesterday said, in reply to the question as to whether or not he proposed to go to the world's fair:

"I am not. You see I am just in this fix."

I have enough money saved up to take care of myself and my family for some time, but I would be in a bad fix if I did not know that I had it. I am going to spend now the save that I had it. I am going to spend the save that I have ever done not know that I had it. I am going to spend more cautiously now than I have ever done before, because I do not know how long this thing is going to keep up. When I left Brunswick there were only three or four stores open and business was in a state of general suspension. The courthouse is closed and the lawyers have agreed to push no legal matters before this 1st of November. Several of the banks are in the hands of receivers and those that are not lending money on account of the hands of receivers and those that are not are not lending money on account of the prevailing hard times. Hence what would I do if I found myself out of money? I do not know when business will be resumed, but until it is the lawyers and the merchants and the people generally cannot count on their usual resources for a livelihood. There being no litigation the lawyers, of course, can make no money. There being a general suspension of bus-There being a general suspension of bus-iness, the merchants are absolutely forced liness, the merchants are absolutely forced to close their stores. I do not know when we will get over this. I earnestly hope that it will not be long, but there is certainly no relief in sight before frost, and in the meartime I propose to hold on to what I have without taking any chance as to where more is coming from."

She says the house can be comfortably furnished at very little cost. Any one wishing the house can little cost. Any one wishing the house car get it by communicating with her at Car tersville.

The co-operative plan is receiving the instinted support of the people of At-

Those who have been attending the neetings of the manufacturers and those friendly to the movement have been working hard all along, and they are now all of the opinion that Atlanta-made stuff can be placed upon the market cheaper than any other article like it. They have made a canvass of the quality and the quantity of the work done here, and are satisfied that it will more than equal anything like it brought from other points.

The advertising committee of the association was the only one which had a meeting yesterday. Of that committee Mr. L. P. Sawtell is the chairman. He has given the matter much study, and is of the opinion that with a judicious use of printers' ink that the manufactories of Atlanta can be brought more prominently before the people of the south than any

"Why," said he, yesterday, "since have been at work on the matter we have aroused the people of the north. Within the past two days Atlanta has had within its borders more agents for northern and have been learning through the press what has been going on down here, and they are afraid of losing a trade they have been having for a long time. See ing that Atlanta was thinking of supplying itself from its own factories they have rushed their men this way earlier than ever before asking for orders, and every one of them are offering us better terms than ever before. They all are anxious movement we now have on foot, and when they are assured that it is one of the novements which has come to stay they wilt. Besides that we have had quite number of letters from factories which want to come here and locate, but to these we reply that the field is now full."

Mr. Sawtell's committee yesterday sued the following letter:

sued the following letter:

I send out today over two hundred letters as chairman of the advertising committee, and would like to receive prompt answers as it is important that the list should be full when it comes out in the papers.

We have been talking a great deal the last few days about everything manufactured in Atlanta, and promising to show a full list of the factories all at one time in the papers.

Any manufactory in Atlanta can afford 40 cents per day or more for a few days and reap untold benefits from it, as we have already done so much talking that there are thousands of people ready to buy Atlanta made articles but they want to know who makes them.

some of the factories are already selling plenty, and possibly might think they do not need to advertise, but there are two sides to this question. First, they should advertise in this list for the good it does themselves, and in the second place they should do so for the good it does others and the whole city by building up her home industries. We have obtained rates from the papers of less than half of the regular rates by clubbing together and on account of the movement, and we do not think that any one will have an excuse for not coming in.

we do not think that any one can be cuse for not coming in.

We will feel very much disappointed if we do not receive a list of at least one hundred and fifty by tomorrow. Respectfully.

The Board of Aldermen Met Yesterday and Disposed of All Important Matters.

NEW ELECTRICIAN FOR THE CITY

The Street Work Is Going On All Right, and the Taxes Are Being Paid to Help the Work Out.

The board of aldermen met yesterday norning in the council chamber. four members of the board were present, Mr. Shropshire presiding, Mr. Rice, Mr. Boyd and Mr. Broyles, the other two members, Mr. Stephens and Mr. Haralson being out of the city.

The board passed upon a lot of bills which the council had created or authorized Monday, but the greater part of the work was of no great importance. The ordinance doing away with the inspector of electric lights and the city electrician was read and concurred in. Then the ordinance creating a city electrician with increased powers was read and concurred in, the electrician to be elected by the board of electrical control.

The report of the finance committee awarding the Georgia Electric Light Company interest on all bills which were not paid by the city at maturity was taken up. The interest amounts to $92.40 and the bill shows how long every one of the payments was deferred from the time it was due.

"I think," said Mr. Rice, "that this is all wrong. We have a big contract with that company and we meet our bills as promptly as any one. If the stringency two late then they ought to be satisfied. At least they should not complain. I'm opposed to giving them any interest at all. Atlanta is one of the most prompt paymasters of which I have any knowledge, and if a pay day happens to go by it is certainly no fault of the city. I shall under no condition vote for the paper."

Mr. Broyles and Mr. Boyd expressed themselves as favoring the report and asserted that they were willing to vote for a concurrence.
"I am in the chair and have no vote on the question," said Mr. Shropshire, "but if I did have a vote I'd vote against the concurrence."

When the vote was called Mr. Boyd and Mr. Broyles voted for the concurrence, while Mr. Rice voted against it.

n great shape with the money they are due he city and are handing it over with leasant, happy smiles. The happiest payers of the lot, however, are the men who are the home owners, and not occupants of great mansions. Most of them have something to say about helping the idle man along as they pay, and all of them want to know how the new scheme is #rorking. "Why," said one of the payers yesterday,
"I had no idea of coming in yet, because ment of this money would help some poor working man I decided to come in. So here's my taxes and if you need a dollar or two more just call on me. I ain't got no bank account, but I've got just as big a heart for the working man as any one and I'll help them just as far. I happen to know lets of needle tee, where they Collector Collins is now taking in money Collector Collins is now taking in money faster than ever before. It comes from all kinds of people. The poor man, the rich man and the man who has a competency comes in side by side to pay what he owes the city and nearly every one of them declare that they are doing it to help the working man along. During the day yesterday the receipts went nearly to $7,000, which is mighty big for this time of the year. The day before the receipts were even larger and today it is believed that they will be bigger than ever before. Any kind of money may be found when the day's counting up comes. In the drawer are silver, gold, greenbacks and bank certificates. Yesterday the bank certificates were quite numerous and the first one Deputy Middlebrooks took in he framed and hung upon the wall.

so sore yesterday morning that they could not handle the pick and when they showed up Captain Wylie let them off and filled their places with other new applicants.

"Just as soon as they are able to work," said the commissioner last night, "I'll put them back to work. No man can work with a pick and showed when he has cork with a pick and showed when he has cork them back to work. No man can work with a pick and shovel when he has sore hands and when I found that some of the men had been blistered by the first day's work I let them off and filled their places. There were not many of these and just as soon as they are able to get down to work again I'll see that they are given places. I never saw anything move along more pleasantly and I'm glad I had an opportunity of seeing it. Every one of the men appear to be in earnest about wanting work and they all seem to be in earnest, too, in trying to do it."

The Street Committee. The members of the street committee are watching the work that is now going on and are working hard to secure the lay-ing out of more work when the work now provided is completed.

"I now see," said Mr. Reneau, chairman of the committee, "an opportunity for the city to have more street work done than ever before and I know that the doing of that work will help people who are needing the help. The poor people of Atlanta waik the streets as much as the rich ones and when they walk they should have just as when they walk they should have just as good streets to walk in. For that reason the work they are now doing will benefit them as much as it will benefit any one

UGLY CHARGES AGAINST ONE ANOTHER

Two Warrants Follow the Trial in Police Court-There Will Be a Trial of One of Them Today.

When people of the same flesh and blood get to fighting at cross purposes the battle is Learly always bitter and to the death.

W. A. Pannell and his sister are now waging between each other a releatless war and the indications are that it will not stop until one or the other is dragged down into the nire. Each is trying very hard to brand the other a social outcast and of the commonest tramp.

They are bringing charges and countercharges against each other and are fighting them in the courts with a persistency born of deep feeling. The first indication had of the row was in police court two days ago,

She went before a justice and swore out a warrant against her brother for keeping a disorderly house and living in adultery. Several officers were summoned to appear as witnesses in the case, to prove the character of the house and to prove, if possible, whether he was married to the woman or not. The case was to have been tried yesterday afternoon, but Pannell asked a continuance for the purpose of producing a marriage certificate. He maintained that he had been lawfully married to the woman with whom he is living and who passes as his wife, and says he can produce a marriage certificate from an adjoining county. The case was postponed until next Wednesday for that purpose.

Pannell was not resting on his oars while his sister was busy swearing to bad charges against him. He went before a justice and swore out a warrant against his sister for stealing $400 from him, as he charged. This case was set for a hearing this afternoon.

The feeling between the brother and sister is exceedingly bitter. They seem determined to ruin each other. Mrs. Thomas stated in court the other day that her brother's purpose was to drag her down into the statter, where he had sunk himself. It now seems to be a game that two can play at.

Mrs. Pannell, who is charged with being an illicit wife, is several years younger than her husband, and she indignantly denies the charge Pannell's sister has brought.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, Angust 24.—This has been the quietest day at the stock exchange for a long time, and but for a spurt during the last hour would have been one of the duliest on record. Up to 2 o'clock less than 55,000 shares changed hands, but the subsequent transactions brought the total for the day up to 30,000 shares. The attendance of brokers and of operators at the beard during the morning was exceedingly small, owing to the delays in transportation because of last algat's severe storm. The bears took advantage of this to depress prices and were assisted by the advance in the Bank of England's rate of discount to 5 per cent and the revival of rumors affecting the credit of one or more Wall street concerns. The general list was depressed 14 to 13-4 per cent, while Wheeling and Lake Erie and Cotton Oil preferred dropped 25-8 and 41-4 points. Subsequently it became known that the firms supposed to be in financial difficulties had been pulled through and were in no danger of suspension. At the same time money on call became easier, the premiums on currency and gold sank lower, and it was reported that seyeral of the savings banks had informed depositors, who some time ago gave the requisite notice of withdrawals, that they could have their funds on demand. These influences led to a sharp rally during the last hour, the improvement from the lowest being equal to 1-2 to 21-4 per cent. The fact that the decrease in the earnings of the St. Paul road for the third week of August was smaller than had been anticipated also contributed to the strength of the market, as some of the shorts started in to cover. When stocks were wanted the supply was found to be small. Reading was quite conspicuous and advanced on reports that the forthcoming statement of the receivers would show a material reduction in the floating debt. Speculation left off strong at or near the best figures of the day.

NEW YORK, August 24—In Liverpool the demand from spinners today was not sufficient to sustain the market even with the cheerful tone of the advices sent from the American markets; and, opening at 1th 2-5id advance, the offeings were sufficient not only to cause a loss of this gain but an additional loss of 3-54d from yesterday's closing quotations. To some extent the advance in the bank rate to 5 per cent, which actually means about 7 per cent money to the man who earries cotton in Liverpool, is the cause for this weak-pees, but it is probable that the increase in the movement of the American crop over last season has had more to do with bringing about the decline than monetary considerations in England. With the present condition of monetary affairs in this country it is impossible for the northern spinner to secure the discounts necessary for him to bay his usual supply of cotton, even though he had a market for his goods, but with the mills closed, and with a supply of goods on hand, the manufacturer is not disposed to incur any further risk until matters assume a more settled shape. Thus, though the demand for cotton from England and the continent is large, and trade in all sections of Europe is good with the Manchester spinners under contract for goods until the list of January and even later, the absence of any demand from the American spinner or speculator leaver but one buyer—Europe—in the market. Receipts of the new crop promise to largely exceed early estimates, a fact which is a surprise to all whe expended the monetary situation to check the movement to market, but it seems that regardless of the cost cotton is coming to sight, especially on the Alianite slope, and will be offered to Europe at prices Points, advanced under a coverring demand some 36 of points, advanced under a coverring demand some 36 of points, advanced under a coverring demand some 56 of points, advanced under a coverring demand on September contracts by houses who can use their money to better advantage in the south, and as the problem of carrying cotton forward is a difficult one at the present time there are comparatively few buyers. The stock of cotton in New York is composed of high grade cotton, and as the early receipts of any crop are usually good grades, there is at the moment little demand for the stock on hand. The difference between August, September and the further deliveries continued to widen during the day until at one time there were 23 points difference between the August and October deliveries. This difference to some extent represents the difficulty of securing the necessary money, but more especially the small interest remaining in August. September was pressed for sale from an unexpected quarter, but the interest is thought to have been largely liquidated, though considerable doubt remains as to who will take the notices when tendered. Receipts today are not very large, and under ordinary circumstances a rally could be expected in Liverpool tomorrow. Although there was a slight effort made at the close to advance the market there was no indication on September contracts by houses who can use their the close to advance the market there was no indicati of any further interest being taken in the market or the long sile. Many of yesterday's buyers turned sell-ers, but the conditions are practically without change

NEW YORK, August 24 - [Special.]—The decline in Liverpool this morning which private cables attributed to the action of the Bank of England in raising its discount to 5 per cent was a wet blanket to the bulls, and our opening was at a decline of 6 points. January selling at 7.59. The storm of last night somewhat interrupted telegraphic communication with the south, and the trading at first was mainly local. Some of the room traders who had sold yesterday took their profits, and this buying kept prices very steady for a while, January advancing to 7.62; but presently selling orders began to come in from southern points and our market slowly yielded, and at one time was distinctly weak, January being offered at 7.51. There was a partial recovery in the last half hour, and the close was quiet and steady with the trading in January at 7.57. The market is still nervous, but the increasing pressure of spot cotton for sale is encouraging operators who have recently covered to put out fresh short lines; and, though the improving financial situation may cause temporary railies, we still think that the general tendency of cotton will be towards lower prices. THE CHICAGO MARKET

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, August 24.—The influences affecting the wheat market were the dull and depressed condition of European markets and the lack of export business. The market opened 1-2 to 1-4c, reacted 1-4c and declined irregularly 3-4c, closing easy at the lowest figures of the day.

There was some firmness imparted to the corn market for a short time by the assertion in The Cincinnati Price Current that very little benefit had accrued to the corn crop west of the Mississippi from the recent rains and none at all to that east of the river. The strength was soon overcome by the weakness of the wheat market and the heaviness at Liverpool, that market being reported weak and 1d. lower for corn. The close was at about the lowest prices of the day.

An absence of buying orders caused oats to recede. The receipts were larger than expected. The close was easy at the inside. Provisions were again largely controlled by the operations of Armour & Co., whose brokers were buyers of moderate quantities of ribs. The latter article ruied strong, buf the full amount of the day advance was not maintained at the close. The net gain in the end was 5c, in the September delivery. Lard closed from 21-2 to 5c, lower than it diu yesterday and pork was reduced to a nominal price, 15c lower than it closed on the previous day.

CHICAGO, August 24.—There did not seem to be a redeeming feature in the wheat news this morning, and the market was weak from the word "go." Export buyers seem to be letting this market severely alone of late, and there is a lull in seaboard clearances just now. The heavy selling of December the last few days has advanced its premium to 7c. for September, and this tended to frighten holders of both December and September. There are still those in the trade who look for a hurried liquidation in September and a widening of the December premium possibly to 10c. which induces some enthusiastic bears to play the market for a sharp break before September 1st. We still think the premium will lessen to about 6c. The movement from first hands of both winter and spring wheat is very light aid Duluth pays a premium of 1 1-2c. today for cash over September. It is thought the movement of spring wheat will increase from this time forward, as our stocks are not decreasing much. There seems to be only these extreme low prices left as a bull arms. from this time forward, as our stocks are not decreasing much. There seems to be only these extreme low prices left as a bull argument for the present. That alone will answer when the time comes. The market closed at the bottom—September 60 1-2. December, 67 1-8. Notwithstanding 'the bullish article in the Cincinnati Price Current this morning and our own report that Vermiflion county, Illinois, will not harvest more than a quarter of an average crop, the corn market was exceptionally weak. The shipping demand seems to have stopped almost entirely. Shippers claim that they have no bids today. Corn closed very weak. September 36 7-8c.; May 40.

Oats were weak in sympathy with corn. Ribs were particularly firm today.

Ribs were weak in sympathy with corn.
Ribs were particularly firm today. A few buying orders were difficult to execute from the almost entire absence of offerings.

There were liberal receipts of hogs, and prices were 15 to 20c. up, with packers and shippers both active buyers.

Pork and lard were extremely dull.

COBB AND PHILLIPS

the Reunion of the Two Legions at Grant Park Yesterday

A Day Long to Be Remembered by the Old Soldiers.

TWO THOUSAND VETERANS PRESENT

IT WAS A FEAST DAY OF ORATORY

Followed by a Splendid Barbecue-General Phillips, General C. A. Evans and Captain H. W. Newman Speak.

It was a day of mellow recollection to the old soldiers at Grant park yesterday. Nature was in full sympathy with the occasion and the day, from morning till night, was as bright as Georgia sunshine could make it. The sky was a clear blue and not a cloud, except for a few minutes about the hour of noon, obscured the brightness of the firmament.

The crowd was simply immense. It was one of the largest that ever gathered on a similar occasion. From every part of Georgia, but more especially from the mountain districts, the old soldiers who followed Cobb and Phillips gathered together for the purpose of recalling the past. They met with all the enthusiasm of old veterans, and the rebel yell rang out as lustily as when it terrified the boys in blue at the battle of Manassas.

The spirit of anecdote and reminiscence was rampant. Before the exercises began, the old soldiers were disposed to air their experiences and every now and then a hearty laugh broke out among the pines, to be repeated among the coves and recesses

General William Phillips, the battle-scarred veteran, who commanded the famous legion which bears his name, came down rom Marietta to mingle with his men and to enjoy the day's reunion. He was the and the grizzly veterans who fought under him, as soon as they spied his military figure, lost sight of evrything else. It demonstrated the fact that the love which the soldiers felt for their leaders had not been impaired in the least by the new contier hand, and they were at liberty to go their hand, and they were at liberty to go cate them for the old soldiers. This order was readily obeyed and the veterans, crawling over the balusters, were soon seated. It Was an Orderly Crowd.

It was an orderly Crowd.

In spite of the immense gathering, there was not a single jar during the day.

No beer or intoxicating stimulants of any kind were seen on the grounds, and if a single man was drunk he had sense enough to hide in the woods.

The sentiments expressed from the platform were equally temperate. The speeches were all sectional, of course, but only in that wealth of reminiscence associated with were all sectional, of course, but only in that wealth of reminiscence associated with the struggles of a people in behalf of the principals which they entertained. No unkind word was spoken of the union soldier, but on the contrary, every speech was full of tender reference to the men whose courage had made possible the valor of the confederate hero.

The music for the occasion was furnished.

The music for the occasion was furnished by the Atlanta military band, and a num ber of martial airs were rendered.

ject lesson to the rising generation, and one that savored of no disloyalty to the union, to see the old veterans as they drank in the enjoyment of the day.

General C. A. Evans, whose record during the war was equal to the bravest and whose private life was the counterpart of problems. It was a fervent approach for divine guidance throughout the Stonewall Jackson's, was another one of Walker, who has figured with equal brave God for the character and services of the ery in two wars, and William Jones, whose fame as a chaplain is interwoven with that of his illustrious chief, was also present. An old negro, from Coweta county, Tom speaker, arose from his chair he was Phillips by name, who fought all through greeted with a storm of cheers. As soon lives near Newnan, Ga., and during the war was an attendant of Colonel Wilcoxon, of that town. He heard yesterday morning that Colonel Wilcoxon was coming to Atlanta and when the latter reached the depot to start for this city, who should he meet but old Tom.

"I's gwine, too," said he, with his satched in hand, and so he came.

No objection was raised and Tom came along with Colonel Wilcoxon. If there was an old soldier who enjoyed the day more than this devoted servant, he was not to be found among the pines, as they whispered in the cool breeze that fanned the hills.

Gathering at the Courthouse.

Nearly every train that came into the city yesterday morning brought with it a number of old veterans.

These repaired immediately to the neighborhood of the courthouse, where badges were obtained. It had been announced through the papers that the procession would be organized at this point and the arrangement was well understood.

would be organized at this point and the arrangement was well understood.

The office of Sheriff Barnes was the center of congestion. Here it was that the badges were given out, the members of Cobb's legion wearing a blue and the members of Phillips, a yellow badge. As fast as the streamers were pinned on, the veterans would pass out and again into veterans would pass out and again into the proverbial hospitality of Atlanta. She was always equal to the occasion and her growth in all of the elements constituting a great city was simply amazing. In behalf of Cobb's legion he thanked the mayor for his words of welcome and stated that he and his comrades would walk the city as if they owned it and would drink as much of the Chattahoochee river water as they could hold.

General Phillips Honored.

The reception accorded to General Phillips by the old soldiers was gratifying to the heart of that grim old veteran.

He spoke with a feeling that indicated how closely his words were in touch with his heart. A flood of memories swept over him as he spoke and a few of these were caught as they passed in review. He referred to the gallantry and the courage of his men and the apparent want of fear with which they went into battle. Referring to his speech delivered at Marietta last year he stated that one of his soldiers had informed him that he spoke for an hour and a half. He stated that his speech on that occasion was incompatable with brevity, as his subject was the military record of General T. R. R. Cobb. The general occupied about twenty minutes in the delivery of his speech yesterday and there was not a sentence which failed to appeal to the enthusiasm of his hearers. His language was chaste and eloquent and his figure, as it appeared on the battle field, was graceful and commanding. eur, was packed. It was all that Sheriff Barnes could do, acting in his capacity as the president of Cobb's legion and the master of ceremonies, to make his way through the dense mass of humanity. He finally succeeded and was followed by the speakers of the day who were conveyed to the park in carriages.

On account of the heavy crowd and the rability of the crippled veterans to obtain eats, it was necessary to ask a number of ladies who occupied front seats to various of the bravest and brightest of the ladies who occupied front seats to various of the bravest and brightest of the

This he did in his characteristic style, and before he had measured a dozen sentences there was not an old soldier present who was not thoroughly convinced of

Mayor Goodwin said that on account of Atlanta's central location it had been a popular spot for holding large assemblies of men. No gathering, however, was more distinguished in its character or brought with it a greater honor than the reunion of the two logious who fought with Cobb

The next speaker was Mr. L. L. Knight. Like Mr. Cobb, he appeared as the representative of the young generation. He was warmly greeted by the audience and held throughout his speech the closest attention of the old veterans.

He referred to the character of Cobb and Phillips and of the former he said "A He referred to the character of Cobb and Phillips and of the former he said, "A Christian and a cavalier, no semblance of dishonor soiled his plume or stained the temper of his knightly sword. He was Joshua in his courage displayed beyond the Jordan, St. Paul in the logic of his eloquence and Stephen in the triumph of his martyrdom. Illustrious soldier! Peace to thy ashes by the bright Oconee and joy forever to thy spirit in the gardens of Jehovah."

He referred to the courage of the two legions and the important part which they descended to the young orator. Mr. Cobb was frequently interrupted with applause and at the conclusion of his speech was the recipient of many congratulations.

Colonel Waddell Talks. After the regular pragramme, calls were made for Colonel J. O. Waddell, who had entered the army as a private in the Troup Artillery. He said he knew the veterans and the invited friends would approve his declining to attempt an address following such eloquent speeches as had come from Mayor Goodwin, General Evans, General Phillips, Colonel Newman and the splendid young orators, T. After paying a tribute to the memory of to General Howell Cobb on the death of his brother, T. R. R. Cobb.

General Lee's Letter to General Cobb.

General Lee's Letter to General Cobb.

Camp dear Fredericksburg, Va., December 18, 1862.—General H. Cobb—General: I beg leave to express my sympathy in your great sorrow. Your noble and gallant brother met a soldier's death, and God grant that this army and our country may never be called upon again to mourn so great a sacrifice.

Of his merits, his lofty intellect, his genius his accomplishments, his professional fame, and above all, his true Christian character I need not speak to you, who knew him so intimately and well. But as a patriot and soldier, his death has left a gap in the army which his military apritude and skill render it hard to fill. In the battle of Fredericksburg he won an immortal name for himself and his brigade. Hour after hour he held his position in front of our batteries, while division after division of the enemy was hurled against him. He announcid the determination of himself and his men never to leave their post until the enemy was beaten back, and, with unshaken courage and fortitude, he kept his promise. May God give consolation to his afflicted family, and may the name and fame of the Christian statesman and soldier be cherished as a bright example and holy remembrance.

With great esteem, your obedient servant, General Lee's Letter to General Cobb.

seems to grow more eloquent every day, responded to loud calls for that gentleman. He stated that he was glad to be called upon, for he felt in the humor for making a speech. He was not down on the regular programme and had come with no set speech but you could wake him up at midnight and find him ready to talk of the boys in gray. He grew eloquent in the course of his remarks and was given a perfect ovation as he proceeded in the hearing of every old soldier present. It was a treat to hear the eloquent chaplain of Lee, and his short speech was one of the most delightful efforts of the occasion.

When the band struck up a liviy air at the close of Dr. Jones's speech, one of the old veterans who was feeling happy over the excitement stirred up by the reminiscences of the war, hopped into the clearing and began to dance a regular jig. He was encouraged by the hearty laughter elicited and kept up the racket for several minutes to the amusement of all present, both old and young. This brought the day's exercises to a close. The sun was verging upon the horizon when the veterans began to think about coming home. They turned away from the spot with reluctance as if the grove had been sanctified by the memories of the day and was ever afterwards to be regarded as holy ground. It was a beautiful day in every respect and the golden sunlight that sprinkled it was only the mantle in which the recollections of the day were clothed. It is safe to remark that the 24th of August will not be forgotten soon by the old veterans.

By that purest and best of botanic alteratives, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a dormant liver renews its secretive action and impels the bile into the proper channels. This welcome change is accomplished by a disappearance of the yellow tinge of the skin and eyeballs, uneasiness in the right adde, constipation, morning nausea, dizzness, furred appearance of the tongue, and sources of the breath, which accompany liver trouble. Rheumatism, dyspepsia, majoria and kidney tomplaint are removed by the bitters. Aroused and Regulated old veterans, was next introduced.

He caught the ear of the crowd in his opening sentence and held it without a lag until his closing paragraph. He told a number of good anecdotes in point and kept his audience in a continual, roar of laughter.

The speech of Captain Newman was replete in allusion to the courage and daring of the old soldiers. He had been one himself and had seen with his own eyes the exhibition of southern courage. There was scarcely a time when the confederates were not overwhelmingly outnumbered by the enemy and in view of this fact it was a marvel that the boys in gray held back the enemy for a period of four years.

Commissioner Jud Clements, of Georgia,

Commissioner Jud Clements, of Georgia, delivered the decision.

A brief statement of the decision has been published in the telegraphic columns of The Constitution.

The general ground of complaint on the part of the board of trade was in substance that the city of Troy, being in active competition for business in the same territory as Montgomery, Ala., and Columbus, Ga., the lines of the defendant carriers to Troy and these cities from New York, Philadelphia and Ealtimore—from the Atlantic seaports, Charleston, Brunswick and Savannah; from the South Carolina and Florida phosphate fields; from New Orleans, and from St. Lous, Louisville and Cheinnati unjustly discriminate in their rates against Troy and give Montgomery and Columbus an undue preference in respect to certain commodities and classes of traffic. The decision is in favor of the complainant and directs that the defendant roads readjust their tariffs so as to give Troy a rate on cotton to the Atlantic seaports and on class goods from northerstern cities not higher than those given Montgomery, and on cotton shipped from Troy via Montgomery to New Orleans, and on class goods shipped from Louisville, Cincinnati and St. Louis, rates not in excess of those to Columbus. It is also ordered that the rates on phosphate rock to Troy over the Alabama Midland or Georgia Central and connecting roads be not greater than those to Montgomery. The following are some of the leading points in the decision:

1. The continuity of the carriage of freight over a line formed by two or more roads, is not broken in fact and cannot be broken in law by the charge of a local rate by one, or more of such roads as its proportion of the through rate. The ladies were admitted first and as soon as they were comfortably arranged the veterans were allowed to enter the arena, which was guarded by a strong rope. The hungry multitude ate with a saving appetite and when they had finished there was hardly a crumb for Lazarus.

This feature of the day was a brilliant success and the committee in charge of the arrangements should be congratulated. If there was any one who failed to get a sample of the barbecue it was not the fault of the committee, who made it a point to see that every one was supplied.

Young T. R. R. Cobb.

The first of these introduced was Mr. T. R. R. Cobb, grandnephew of the immortal General Tom Cobb, for whom the legion was named.

Mr. Cobb, by his graceful oratory, sustained the brilliant reputation which waited upon his appearance as one of the eloquent speakers of the day.

The inspiration of the occasion was sufficient for the young orator without the need of elaborate preparation and in a manner that held the attention of every old soldier present, he narrated with fervent lip and glowing imagination the story of the legion as he had caught it from history and tradition.

It was a speech worthy of the occasion and worthy of the splendid name which had descended to the young orator. Mr. Cobb was frequently intervented with ferromass frequently intervented with ferromass. more, of such roads as its proportion of the through rate.

2. The successive receipt and forwarding in ordinary course of business by two or more carriers of interstate traffice shipped under through bills for continuous carriage over their lines, is assent to a "common arrangement" for such carriage within the meaning of the act to regulate commerce without previous express agreement between them, and the obligations imposed by the statute cannot be evaded by the demand of the local charge for the haul over its own road by one or more of evaded by the demand of the local charges as the haul over its own road by one or more of such carriers or by the declaration on the part of one or more of such carriers that a to the transportation over its road it is a lo-cal and not a through carrier. (Reaffirmin the doctrine laid down in Georgia raliraod commission vs. Clyde Steamship Company, e al.)

commission vs. Clyde Steamship Company, et al.)

3. A local rate, which presumably is adopted as covering both the initial and final expense of a local haul, is prima falle excessive as part of a through rate over a through line composed of two or more carriers.

4. The facts, that one city is much larger and more important and extensive business interests than another and has been treated by the carriers in making rates to surrounding points as a "trade center," is no justification for a continuation of discriminatory rates in favor of such city. The object of the act to regulate commerce was to eradicate the system of rebates and unjust discriminations existing at the date of its passage in favor of particular localities, special enterprises and favored institutions.

WORK FOR SUPERS.

The Thirty Supernumerary Policemen Will Have Jobs.

GENEROUS ACT OF THE REGULAR MEN

They Lose Their Five Days' Vacation, but Agree to Take One at Their Own Expense.

The policemen yesterday lost their five days' vacation by an order issued by Chief Connolly under instructions of the board of police commissioners, but they immediately agreed to take one at their own expense and for the benefit of the thirty or more supernumeraries on the force, who have practically been out of work for the sum-

Two months ago the board agreed to give the policemen a vacation of five days each, the captains two weeks, and the sergeants ten days. About half of the men have taken this vacation, and the other half have been looking forward to their turn with pleasurable anticipations. Six or seven men are away now on their vacation, and when they return, no others will leave at the city's expense.

The vacation order was cut down in its youth by the following order issued yesterday by Chief Connolly:

Owing to the fact that all the members of the police department are needed to protect the citizens of Atlanta from the depredations of thieves, burglars and other violators of the law, no other member of the department will be allowed a leave of absence for the purpose of taking a vacation.

This order is issued by the direction of the chairman of the board of police commissioners and will go into effect at once.

A. B. CONNOLLY, Chief of Police

Murmurs of disapproval greeted the read ing of the order, and in a quiet way the policemen who have not yet taken their tive days off, vigorously denounced it as unjust. They put as bright a face on it as they could and made no open comments; what they said was on the quiet.

Soon after the order was issued, the policemen and officers got together to consider another matter, very important to list more than thirty supers and they have attended roll call regularly. The regular men have been putting in good time in view of the hard times, and the supers have been without work without work.

Many of the latter have been in a pretty close financial strait, and unable to find work elsewhere they have been hanging on at police headquarters in the hope of finding a vacancy. Yesterday, the entire force of regular men, with the officers, agreed to take a vacation of from five to ten days so as to give the supers work. In this way the supers will be able to get work driving the supers and the regular

In this way the supers will be able to get work during the summer, and the regular men will lose but little.

Today, the captains and the chief will meet together and arrange a roll of the supers, so that all will share alike in the division of work. The new order of things will go into effect at once. The supers are happy over the new aspect of things and were in a good humor last night. Said one of them:

"We want The Constitution to thank the chief, the captains and the regular men for their kindness in arranging for us to get work. With some of us, finances were running extremely low, and as we have families to support, we need all the work we can get. The regular men have families of their own, and readily sympathize with of their own, and readily sympathize with us in our troubles."
